What Is SAMS?

It is an Aladdins Cave of goodies. At SAMS surplus objects are collected, displayed and offered in a sort of emporium or 'warehouse of wonders'. SAMS brings together public and private organisations with a common aim of raising recycling and environmental awareness and actively encourages recycling within the local business community. With the assistance and support of our dedicated team of volunteers our not for profit social enterprise is a thriving hub of activity.

Who Benefits From This Initiative? Everyone:-

- Companies reduce their carbon footprint, develop corporate social responsibility and minimise disposal costs so improving profit
- Communities through social cohesion in a unique creative environment
- Individuals through on-site craft workshops; or being creative at home or work or to improve emotional well-being
- Children – enjoying and achieving through the Every Child Matters curriculum
- Our planet - making landfill redundant, reducing pollution and reclaiming the ozone

How Much Will It Cost?

For a nominal annual fee your membership entitles you to visit as many times as you like to buy art and crafts materials that don't cost the Earth.

How Can You Get Involved?

Does your company have surplus stock? Why not get in touch and help us achieve a cultural change about the perception of 'waste'

Or Join Us – Our Members Include:

Schools, colleges, nurseries, faith groups, community groups, craft groups and individuals – in fact anyone who feels that through participation, innovation, creation and education they can reduce the impact on the environment (in a non commercial way).

Committed To Sams Success

SAMS also incorporates School Friends, which brings the opportunity for continued links between education and the private sector.

Our Employee Community Involvement project is supported through SAMS through business involvement. Local business employees 'put something back into their community' by undertaking team building 'challenges' to solve area problems. Private sector business 'surplus' is collected and used in the challenge and any excess supports local charities and voluntary organisations through SAMS.
